FRANCIS R. PEABODY

Francis Richard Peabody died in his sleep at his home in Akron, Ohio, on the evening of Oct. 24. He had been in his usual good health.

He was born in Gilead April 9, 1871, the son of William R. and Mary E. Peabody. The greater part of his life was spent in Akron where he went in 1898 as a mechanical engineer in the rubber industry.

For about nine years, until their return to Akron two years ago, the family lived at the old home-stand in Gilead and in Bethel village, where they made many friends.

Mr. Peabody is survived by his wife, Ethel; three sons, Don, John, and Richard; and a daughter, Mrs. Ellen Nunnally.

Funeral services were held at the Willow Chapel, Oct. 28, Dr. Walter F. Tunks officiating.

MRS. DANA O. DUDLEY

Mrs. Martha A. Dudley, wife of Dana O. Dudley, died suddenly Tuesday morning at her home in Bryant Pond.

A native of Woodstock, she was born Dec. 4, 1877, the daughter of Benjamin and Narcissus Perham Kimball. On Jan. 3, 1902, she was married to Mr. Dudley. A graduate of Bucksport and Kents Hill seminaries, she formerly taught at Woodstock, Washburn, and Piermont, N. H.

She was a charter member and past matron of Jefferson Chapter, O. E. S., and for ten years served Franklin Grange of this village as secretary. In a few weeks, she would have been a golden sheaf member. She was a member of Woodstock Farm Bureau, also served several years on the school board.

Survivors are her husband, a son, Otis D., Bryant Pond; a daughter, Mrs. Margaret E. Ervin, Corinna; three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Baptist Church. Interment will be in Lakeside Cemetery.

FRANCIS E. COLE

Francis E. Cole of North Woodstock died Tuesday at the Noyes nursing home, West Paris, where he had been confined for three and a half years.

He was born in Woodstock on Sept. 10, 1867, the son of Reuben and Edna Howe Cole.

Mr. Cole's wife, the former Hannah Judkins, died on August 11. Survivors include two sons, Herman and Everett, both of North Woodstock; two daughters, Mrs. Louie Sweetser, Bryant Pond; and Mrs. Elizabeth Knight, North Woodstock; a sister, Mrs. Rose Foggs, Casco, N. H.; eight grandchildren; and one great granddaughter.

Funeral services are held at the North Woodstock Chapel this Thursday afternoon. Burial is in the Cole Hill cemetery.

ELEANOR GORDON GUILD

The Eleanor Gordon Guild met Wednesday, Nov. 8, at Virginia Keniston's with Jeannette Kimball as co-hostess. The meeting was opened with devotions by Mary Angeline.

The Christmas Sale committee for Nov. 16 are: Selling and Decorations—Betty Blake, Mary Angeline and Mary Paine; Soliciting—Betty Robertson and Shirley Cough.

It was voted to buy the materials for the candy bags for the Christmas Sale.

The meeting was adjourned after which slides were shown by Miss Whitney. Refreshments were enjoyed.

The next meeting will be at the home of Janice Cross with Ann Cross as co-hostess.

There were more so predicts the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Prices of most farm products should be higher and farm production will probably be the highest in history.

If the weather is normal, higher prices for milk and other dairy products, about the same prices for eggs and poultry meat, lower prices for potatoes and slightly higher for fresh fruits and vegetables are some of the prospects.

After a short wedding trip they will reside in the house formerly owned by his grandfather, John F. Howe.

Mr. Howe graduated from Woodstock High School in 1919, and is employed in the office at the Stowell Silk Spool Co.

Mr. Howe was a member of the Stowell Lodge, K. of P., and served as Master of Franklin Grange the past year.

GOULD DROPS THIRD: EDGED BY WILTON, 7-2

Gould Academy dropped its third game of the year last Saturday at Wilton, leaving them all evened up in the won and lost column, along with one tie game.

The game played in the rain and on a muddy field held scoring to a minimum. Both teams scored their only points in the second period. The Huskies scored first when a 15 yard penalty on the Eagles and a bad pass from their center sent the ball into their end zone for a safety counting two points.

Before the period was over Wilton got a good break, too, as they recovered a Gould fumble on the 17 yard line. They immediately scored on a pass, Masterman to Brown. Masterman rushed the extra point and Wilton had the ball game 7-2.

In the final period Gould put on a spirited drive but time ended with Gould still driving on the Wilton 20 yard line.

WCS TO OPEN MITE BOXES AT NEXT MEETING

The W. S. C. S. met last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leslie Davis with Mrs. Cheslie Saunders presiding at the business meeting. Final arrangements were made for the Christmas sale at the church, Nov. 16.

Mrs. David Hekland explained the purpose of Friendship Sunday. The president appointed Mrs. Earl Davis and Mrs. Sherman Greenleaf co-chairmen of the hostess committee.

Missionary mite boxes will be opened Dec. 7 at the home of Mrs. Herbert I. Benn. Mrs. Stanley Brown will lead devotional exercises.

C. OF C. VOTES TO MOVE OLD INFORMATION BOOTH

At the meeting of the Bethel Chamber of Commerce, held at the American Legion Home Tuesday evening, the president was instructed to arrange for necessary repairs and removal of the old information booth from Railroad Street. There was also a discussion of the appointment of a local trial justice and the need of volunteers for airplane observer duties. Several members offered their services for the latter. After adjournment Mrs. R. E. Tibbetts gave an excellent review of Dr. Vannevar Bush's recent book, "Modern Arms and Free Men."

GOULD MEETS FRYEBURG IN SEASON FINALE

The final game of the 1950 season brings Fryeburg Academy to Bethel for a two o'clock encounter on Alumni Field. Both teams bring records of both defeat and victory and a tough game is expected here on Saturday. Coach Scott's Huskies have lost their last two starts and now have a three-win, three-loss, and one tie record. They will be in there striving to bring their record over the 500 mark. The following seniors will be starting their final game for the Huskies: Emery, lb, Lowell, lt, Capt. Bennett, lg, Mason, rg, Douglass, rt, Chase, lhb, Howe, rhh, and Streeter. He has already made his last start due to injury in the Herod game.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Howe

HOWE - DUNHAM

Miss Elouise Agnes Dunham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dunham, Locke Mills, and Edwin Arthur Howe, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Everett Howe, Bryant Pond, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents Wednesday evening, Nov. 1, at 7 o'clock. The couple stood under an arch of evergreen and white roses, from which a white wedding veil was suspended.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Pastor Roland Lord, in the presence of the immediate families, including the bride's grandmothers, Mrs. Linnie Ring and Mrs. Mabel Dunham.

The bride wore a floor length white rayon sheer gown, with Peter Pan collar and tucked bodice. Her finger tip veil was caught with pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white chrysanthemums centered with a white rose.

She was attended by Miss Phyllis Hathaway as bridesmaid. Her dress was Nile green rayon, and her colonial bouquet was of bronze chrysanthemums.

The bride's brother, Herbert Dunham, was best man, and his little niece, Kathy Dunham, was flower girl. She wore a long white organza dress.

The bride's mother was groomed in green shantung, with corsage of pink carnations, while Mrs. Howe, mother of the bridegroom, wore black faille with a corsage of red carnations.

Miss Claire Lapham played the wedding music, and the soloist, Miss Beverly Lurvey, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

The groom gave the bride a gift for the home and his gift to the best man was a billfold.

The bride gave the groom a personal gift. The bridesmaid received perfume and the soloist and organist were given cosmetics.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Grange Hall, Bryant Pond. Mrs. Sylvia Dunham, Mrs. Lillian Mills, Mrs. Vera Cross, Mrs. Lillian Mills, Mrs. Annie Bryant, and Miss Charlotte Cole were in charge of the gifts and Mrs. Beale House, the guest book.

all been carried away and destroyed.

It was this way: we put it in the wood shed while we had our Halloween Party. When the wood was put in over vacation our boxes were removed. So we had to start all over again.

We have our decorations for Thanksgiving up now. Pilgrims were made for the boards. All are working on our Thanksgiving program. Our teacher is reading us the story "Children of the Mayflower." It's interesting.

Mr. Christie was in on Wednesday.

Some of us are still finding flowers. I brought in a buttercup and a strawberry blossom on Friday.

The first grades have completed a Pilgrim village in their sand table.

Our great Way-shower, steadfast to the end in his obedience to God's laws, demonstrated for all time and peoples the supremacy of good over evil, and the superiority of Spirit over matter.

CHEVROLET TRUCKS

with Chevrolet's Hypoid Rear Axle

Chevrolet trucks are engineered to "take it," in every way. Chevrolet's heavy-duty hypoid rear axles offer maximum strength . . . with single-unit housings formed into tubular steel beams, and splined axle-to-hub connections that deliver power more evenly. Gears last longer, too . . . pinion gear is ball-bearing supported at each end, with adjustable thrust pad to prevent distortion on extra heavy pulls. Add these advantages to powerful Valve-in-Head engines, Synchro-Mesh transmissions, and channel-type frames. Then you'll know why Chevrolet is the most popular truck in America. Come see these great Chevrolet trucks today!

A TRIBUTE OF LOVE AND RESPECT IN MEMORY OF MRS. BERTHA SPINNEY MUNDT

It seems fitting to pause in the rush and bustle of the day's work and pay tribute to the memory of one who for long years was a tower of strength to her family and her many friends and neighbors. No task was ever too hard for her to do if it was to help some one.

No night too dark, no road too rough to prevent her from reaching the bedside of a sick neighbor who needed her; and with gentle skillful hands and kindly heart helped to banish sickness and pain. Her home and family were ever uppermost in her mind and heart, and when tragic sorrow came to them, with indomitable courage she lifted her head, saying with white lips, "Thy will, O Father! not mine, be done," and bravely carried on.

Beautiful poems written by her are treasured, by those who knew her best, as typical of her.

A great worker in the Grange, where for years she was Master and fulfilled the duties of that office with dignity and care for all its requirements.

We miss the dear face at the window, As she came to greet us of yore, And the sweet voiced welcome is lacking As we enter the old home's door. But memories of her come thronging And, almost, she is with us here Just a veil across to hide the loved features And the eyes that saw always so clear.

All the work and good deeds that ever Her mind planned so well And her hands so helpful and gentle Can it be they have waved farewell?

At eve when the day's work is finished And the twilight comes quiet and gray, O! harken and make light the old home, Because it was always her way To keep the home fires burning warm and bright every one. To her there were never shadows, For always she looked toward the sun.

Her life was so full of brightness That all of her friends felt its glow But her heart grew heavy with sadness When God called her to onward go. Yet to her it was only a journey That would end near the Great White Throne Where she waits, in God's beautiful country To welcome her loved ones home.

Death's chilling trees on a hill's lone crest Her casel shall rest for aye But the soul on pinions of swiftness To Heaven has hastened away. And tho' often our feet may falter While our hearts are heavy with pain, In Heaven, where it's always "June time" We shall find and greet her again. Addie Bental March October 1950

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

Is the current world crisis being used in an attempt to effect far-reaching and permanent changes in the American economy and the American government? A good many people have reluctantly come to the conclusion that the answer to that question is "yes." The Saturday Evening Post reflected that point of view when it said editorially, "If there is considerable confusion around the globe as to whether the Korean war is intended to be the grave of the American free economy, the fault is surely the administration's. An administration which has moved heaven and earth to bring about the adoption of all sorts of semi-socialist measures... can hardly complain if some people smell a rat. The temptation to use the Korean war as a pretext for permanent changes in our economy is real enough, and there are plenty of planners in the government departments who are eager to fulfill it."

But that was written the Korean war situation has changed. The temptation to use the Korean war as a pretext for permanent changes in our economy is real enough, and there are plenty of planners in the government departments who are eager to fulfill it. Mr. Lawrence then went on to point out that the Korean war situation has changed. The temptation to use the Korean war as a pretext for permanent changes in our economy is real enough, and there are plenty of planners in the government departments who are eager to fulfill it.

Here is the voluntary approach as opposed to that of coercion and dictation. Mr. Lawrence's last paragraph can be profitably studied by all concerned management labor, government and the consumer. Self-restraint arising out of acute pressure to preserve the nation is one thing. When the dangers are thoroughly understood work economy miracles principally on the other side. Going on, the fear is not so much for the possibility of temporary controls, which, as with OPA, would die with the emergency. It is, instead, that these controls would gradually be accepted by the people as a natural state of affairs and become a permanent part of the economy. And should this happen, it is clear, a completely controlled and largely-socialized economy would become inevitable. David Lawrence put the situation in these words: "We are at the crossroads of decision. Shall the American economy gear itself for war by a system of voluntary cooperation or by a system of government coercion? The one road leads to nationalization and government ownership, as in Great Britain. The other road leads away from it to the kind of cooperation between government and industry which preserves the principle of individual freedom, individual property and individual incentive." Mr. Lawrence then went on to point out that the Korean war situation has changed. The temptation to use the Korean war as a pretext for permanent changes in our economy is real enough, and there are plenty of planners in the government departments who are eager to fulfill it.

Hog Killing Time Is ANY OLD TIME

Now... you can enjoy fresh and smoked meats the year around when you use the services of our modern locker plant. No longer need you wait until cold weather before you can butcher and eat your own hogs. We make the weather in our plant... the chill room is 35°, the curing room is 45°, and the locker room is kept at zero. That's why we say that right now is hog killing time.

Bring Us Your Animals... We'll Do the Rest

Simply rush the animal to our sanitary plant for expert handling. We'll process the meat and cure and smoke the hams, bacon and shoulders just the way you like them. Your locker will be filled with tempting roasts, steaks, chops, and sausage ready for cooking.

IT'S VENISON TIME

Bring that deer to Frozen Inn Food Lockers. Enjoy your game year around. It's simple... it's inexpensive

"KUELLA, FRAN AND OLLIE" recently celebrated its third anniversary in television along with the third birthday of their genius creator, Burr Tillstrom. . . . Being a veteran in an infant industry is certainly unique, but the fact remains that Burr and his lovely Kuepolla players were in TV long before the medium caught the nation in its vicer grip. . . . They'll be here for many moons to come — the only show of its kind we can honestly say this about. . . . And all the credit goes to Mr. Tillstrom who has made such endearing personalities out of his creations. . . . Incidentally, the gang has made its first record album and it's a honey for the kiddies. . . . On RCA Victor (what else?), it's entitled "Happy Mother Goose" and we take this opportunity to nominate Ollie the singer of the year for his stirring baritone rendition of "Sing a Song of Sixpence."

PLATTER CHATTER

COLUMBIA: EMMI Fiat has recorded "La Vie En Rose," which she popularized, and it fits her like a glove. . . . The other side has "Three Bells." . . . Dick Jurgens has a lovely number in "Just a Baby's Prayer at Twilight" with "Under a Polka-dot Sky" on the flip. . . . "Autumn Leaves" is given an excellent send-off by Mitch Miller. . . . "Song of Dolly" backs it. . . . Jimmy Dorsey revives two oldies which were popular once and threaten to repeat. . . . "Let a Smile Be Your Umbrella" and "In a Little Spanish Town." . . . Now, part Rosemary Clooney has two winners in "I'm the One Who Loves You" backed by "Where Do I Go From You" and "Wobbling Goliath" backed by "Punky Punkin'."

SUCCESSFUL PARENTHOOD

CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor
Parents Magazine

DO YOU REMEMBER that de-flated feeling when a day's bright promise of fun became clouded over with boredom? It usually happened, when we'd be playing house, after all the furniture was in place, our dolls dressed for the day and we suddenly ran out of make-believe. It wasn't much fun just to sit and look at our play living room—we had to be doing something about it in order to enjoy it. At this point we usually began to wrangle.

Then mother would appear, not to scold us for quarreling, but to suggest a new occupation. Perhaps she'd been sewing and would bring us some pretty scraps with the remark that our dolls needed new dresses for a neighbor child's birthday party to which we were invited. Or she might produce the makings of a mid-morning lunch to be served on our doll dishes—"elevenam" we called these morning snacks, since the dull feeling used to hit us around 11.

Although children are naturally inventive and should be left as much as possible to dream up their own ideas for play, they can be spared a lot of fruitless kiffers if you anticipate the dull stretches in the day by providing creative outlets. Of course, there are times for passive outlets too—an hour of radio or television or being read to. These usually come, however, at the end of the day when the child is more or less ready to let go and think that tomorrow is another day, full of wonderful possibilities. The really difficult times to bridge are the ones, such as we have described, which happen while the morning is still young and cheerful and the child of his expectations of a happy day. Then something the child can make or do, some activity into which he can pour his energy and forget his disappointment, is imperative.

The year, too, has arid spots in it that are particularly hard for children to get through on their own. There's that stretch between Halloween and Thanksgiving—Halloween has entered the long haul, the excitement of beginning weeks has died down and there is no vacation close enough to beckon.

That is the time one family we know begins working again on its electric train. We used to wonder why the parents were willing to spend so much money on a perfect that is, dusty and unexciting, for at least nine months of the year. But once the boys take it up in the late fall, the fever of creative activity that the train provides lasts through mid-January. Last year the track ran through a little village and many a Saturday was spent at the dime store buying lamp posts, grass and flowers. Houses and stores were fashioned of cardboard and vied with the safety of imaginary townsmen. This year bags of plaster of paris, paint and brushes are transformed into the right-of-way from village streets to mountain country.

Why go to all this trouble to encourage creative play? Because employing a child's capacities as they gradually unfold will result in an alert, responsive, productive human being, while experiencing too much of life's inevitable boredom in childhood is apt to fasten listlessness and disinterest on the personality.

ings and daughters were Friday afternoon callers of Mrs. Sam Redman and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cole were at Lewiston on Monday.

Mrs. Everett Cole, daughter Loraine, Mrs. C. James Knight and daughter, Christine, called to see their father, Francis Cole, at the Noyes nursing home, West Paris, Saturday morning. Mr. Cole is not as well.

MRS. VEREOSE CALLED—HERE'S THE MESSAGE.

MAINE POTATO GROWERS ADVISED TO CUT PRODUCTION

Although no acreage control or price support will be effective for 1951, Maine potato growers have been advised to cut their acreage 27 per cent over what was planted this year. The cut would reduce Maine's potato acreage to 85,100. This is merely a suggestion and carries no legal weight or moral responsibility. The goals for each state have been set "to enable farmers to make their potato production plans on a realistic basis in 1951." The attempt is to get 335 million bushels of potatoes produced as compared with 426 million produced this year.

A man may fall into a thousand perplexities, but if his heart be upright and his intelligence unclouded, he will issue from them all without dishonor.

—Robert Louis Stevenson

THE COUNTRY PRESS SAYS
Coalinga, Calif., Record: "The U. S. Government, which continually points with alarm to major industries as being too 'big' for the Republic's well being... announced that employees on its civilian payroll now number 2,000,000."

Lancaster, N. H., Democrat: "We sometimes wonder if the students of our schools can get a fair presentation of any form of government other than the socialism that has been characteristic of our Federal government in recent years."

Watford City, N. D., McKenzie County Farmer: "Recently we heard a politician deliver himself of an harangue about the 'power' of big business... What is this mysterious power? If there is a big business man who is able to force us to buy one brand orange juice—or automobile, or breakfast cereal, or what have you—to the exclusion of any other, we have not heard of him."

Redfield, S. D., Press: "Dictators and tyrants of our era have found that by first controlling the press of a nation the control of the inhabitants of that nation follows easily."

Salt Lake City, Utah, Deseret News: "The domestic political difficulty which hampers the governments of... the world these days including ours, is this: Each one... now has more 'welfare' promises in circulation than they can possibly take up."
